SUBMISSION OF OTHER WRITTEN STATEMENTS AND DOCUMENTS

Pursuant to Supplemental Rule 7(a), the Complainant herewith submits other written statements and documents in response to Respondent's Answer. These statements are made to address inaccuracies offered in Respondent's Answer and to address various allegations made by Respondent. Although Complainant has attempted to address all of Respondent's allegations; Complainant simply cannot address them all in this reply. The failure to address any specific comment should not be construed as acquiescence to the veracity of, or agreement with, any of the statements.

Respondent attempts to defend its registration of thirteen (13) domain names, completely subsuming Complainant registered mark, by arguing that Complainant has 'no rights in the mark[] PORNTUBE'. Contrary to Respondent's arguments, Complainant has already established rights in the mark PORNTUBE, in part, by virtue of, not one, but three separate registrations from the United States, Canada and the European Community. Mere allegations in the Petition to Cancel do not negate Complainant's rights. A registration not only clearly establishes rights in the mark from the date of filing, but establishes a presumption of validity of the registered mark. See U.S. Title, 15 U.S.C. §1057(b) ("A certificate of registration of a mark upon the principal register provided by this Act shall be prima facie evidence of the validity of the registered mark and of the registration of the mark, of the owner's ownership of the mark, and of the owner's exclusive right to use the registered mark in commerce on or in connection with the goods or services specified in the certificate." This includes the presumption that the mark is not merely descriptive or generic as applied to the goods or services.), regarding the Canadian registration, see, s.54 of the Canadian Trademarks Act, which makes the certificate evidence of all facts in the certificate. (Further, the presumptions of validity, ownership, exclusive right to use are supported in case law. The leading cases are Mr. P's Mastertune Ignition Services Ltd. v. Tune Masters,[1984] F.C.J. No. 536, 82 C.P.R. (2d) 128 at 134 (T.D.); California Fashion Industries Inc. v. Reitmans (Canada) Ltd., [1991] F.C.J. No. 1024, 38 C.P.R. (3d) 439 at 443 (T.D.); Kelendji v. Diplomat Fullhalter,[2001] F.C.J. No. 262, 16 C.P.R. (4th) 93 (T.D.), affd [2002] F.C.J. No. 1705, [2006] 2 F.C.R. 50 (C.A.); Philip Morris Products SA v. Marlboro Canada Ltd., [2010] F.C.J. No. 1385, 90 C.P.R. (4th) 1 at para. 212.), and regarding the European Community Trademark, a Community Trademark is presumed valid as the rights originate from the registration itself. Further, in the United Kingdom, where the CTM registration is valid, see section 72 of the Trade Marks Act 1994 ("72. Registration to be prima facie evidence of validity.")

The presumption of validity is an extremely high hurdle that Respondent must overcome to succeed in the TTAB proceeding (see e.g., DuoPorSS Meditech Corp v. Inviro Med. Devices, Ltd., __USPQ2d __ (Fed. Cir. 2012), Cold War Museum, Inc. v. Cold War air Museum, Inc. 586 F.3d 1352, 1356, 92 USPQ2d 1626, 1628 (Fed. Cir. 2009), and mere allegations alone are woefully insufficient. Indeed, a substantial amount of evidence must be produced to overcome this presumption of validity.

In the present case, Complainant's registrations are prima facie proof that the mark PORNTUBE is inherently distinctive. The mark registered in the U.S. in March 2011, and in Canada and Europe in 2010. Each of these Offices considered the issue of descriptiveness in three separate examinations of this mark. The registration of this same mark in both Canada and the European Community, by two entirely different administrative bodies, whose primary function is to register trademarks, is strong evidence that the U.S. Office did not err in its issuance of this registration. Further, even assuming that Respondent prevailed in the cancellation proceeding, the loss of the U.S. registration does not render the Canadian or European registrations null and void, and thus, Complainant still maintains prima facie proof that its mark is valid and inherently distinctive.

The Respondent argues that the mark PORNTUBE is merely descriptive and submits Annexes 3 and 4, Google search results. A review of the actual websites reveals something far different than Respondent's contentions. While each of these search results are returned because the owners of these domain names are inappropriately utilizing Complainant's registered mark in their search terms, not all of the websites use the term porn tube in any descriptive manner. Indeed, at least 67% of these websites do not use the term 'porntube' or 'porn tube' anywhere on their site. More specifically, 74% of the listings in Respondent's Annex 3 do not use the term porntube or porn tube on the website, and 60% of the listings in Respondent's Annex 4 do not use the term porntube or porn tube on the website. Many of these sites do, however, use the mark in an infringing manner. Thus, search results alone do not advise as to the true reflection of the marketplace and the allegedly descriptive use of Complainant's mark. See SAnnex 1 (copies of annex 3, 4 and webpages). Indeed, affiliate marketing programs under the banner of a specific trademark typically produce large numbers of search returns as the trademark is being lawfully used by affiliates to promote the trademark owner's goods/services.

Further, many of the websites identified in the search results are commonly owned. For instance, YouPorn, PornHub, Tube8, Keez Movies, ExtremeTube, XTube and Spankwire are all commonly owned by Manwin Holding SARL and operated under the PornHub network. Thus, descriptive uses, such as those on tube8.com and keezmovies.com, are by the same entity. Further, KingPornTube, PrettyPornTube, PrimePornTube, GrabPornTube are commonly owned by an entity called Jocks Trade; XVideos and XNXX appear to be commonly owned by Copy Paste Ltd; tubegalore.com, elephanttube.com, jennastube.com, dinotube.com are commonly owned by PB Web Media; tubegalore.com, is owned by Respondent; and Complainant believes that infinitetube.com is Condor-traffic.com, which may be linked to Respondent. As seen, the search results do not necessarily identify unique websites, nor do they demonstrate that all of the results are necessarily descriptive uses. The infringing use of the trademark in the search terms are not descriptive uses, but rather, a use to position a website in search results. This type of use will be addressed by Complainant as it continues to enforce its trademark, for example, through proceedings such as this.

Further, Complainant does use its own trademark. Its videos, identified by the PORNTUBE mark, are found on third party sites with permission. For instance, hellporno.com and ixxx.com (identified in Respondent's Annex 5) offer videos from Complainant's website. See SAnnex 2 (hellporno.com) Without extensive research into why each of these listings appear; it is unclear as to whether the use of PORNTUBE or PORN TUBE is an infringement, permissioned use, or a descriptive use. However, as shown in Annex 1, 74% of the listings in Respondent's Annex 3 do not use the term porntube or porn tube on the website, and 60% of the listings in Respondent's Annex 4 do not use the term porntube or porn tube on the website. It is clear that the Google results must be viewed with caution as the mere listing of the search results do not account for the reality of the marketplace.¹

Regarding Respondent's Annex 5, much of the results must be viewed with caution. As discussed above, merely using search terms, which are not displayed on the website when users visit the site, is merely a use to position the website in the search results. In this regard, Complainant disagrees with Respondent's conclusions and notes that xnxx.com, youjizz.com, spankwire.com, alphaporno.com, porn.com, sunporno.com, video-one.com, ixxx.com, xtube.com, tnaflix.com and hellporno.com either do not have descriptive use of the trademark on the site, or offer Complainant's videos. Further, Respondent has included porntube.com and largeporntube.com in their statistics. These domain names are owned by the Complainant and Respondent, respectively, and do not support Respondent's claim of third party use. Removing these domain names from the statistics suggests that only 10/32 or 31% may be using the mark descriptively or in an infringing manner.

Respondent offers its Annex 2 presumably to demonstrate that YouTube is a trending word. The relevance is lost on Complainant as the reason that YouTube might appear in this graph is because many people go to YouTube to view videos. This does not demonstrate that it is a descriptive term. In this regard, Complaint refers to SAnnex 3, which illustrates that between the term tube and YouTube, porntube is dwarfed and is 'not trending' at all.

Finally, with regards to the prosecution of the underlying PORNTUBE trademark in the United States, the undersigned states that the record speaks for itself and that, for clarification, there were no objections with respect to the issue of descriptiveness. In this case, Complainant filed an opposition against the PORNOTUBE mark in response to the Office's objection based on Complainant's priority of rights. The Complainant was not required to enter into a consent agreement to register this mark. The dispute was resolved based on many business factors, not relevant to this matter, and the factual basis of that matter vastly differed than those of this matter. For instance, each of Respondent's domain names completely subsumes Complainant's mark in full, and further uses them as trademarks, thereby infringing Complainant's trademark.

All of these uses were long after the first use by Complainant of its mark. The use of these domain names as trademarks create the appearance of a family of marks with PORNTUBE as the house mark. It is difficult to understand how these domain names are not confusingly similar to Complainant's registered mark. Respondent's claim of bad faith is misplaced and loses focus on the fact that a rejection based on likelihood of confusion is far different than one based on descriptiveness.

Respondent's arguments regarding no likelihood of confusion are not based in law. Respondent is utilizing domain names and trademarks that are substantially similar to Complainant's trademark, for the same goods, in the same marketplace. Respondent admits it is a competitor of Complainant (see Annex 1 of Response, Petition for Cancellation, p. 3, para. I.13., "Petitioner is a competitor of Registrant"). Adding or subtracting a hyphen from a registered trademark does not excuse infringement or otherwise create a different, non-similar mark. Rather, it creates a similar or substantially similar mark. Complainant notes that Respondent admits (see page 4, footnote 2) that the use of a hyphen would make the domain name more likely to be confused with Complainant's trademark. Accordingly, as the hyphen does not alter the issue of similarity or substantial similarity, Complainant submits that Respondent has admitted that the domain names are confusingly similar to Complainant's registered mark. Further, the use of PORNTUBE, or PORN TUBE on each of Respondent's website is an actionable infringement to which Respondent has again, admitted. Respondent argues that the form of use renders the use non-infringing, and specifically argues that PORNTUBE is presented as two words. However, a review of Respondent's Annex 10, illustrates that contrary to Respondent's allegations, Respondent does use Complainant's mark as PORNTUBE. See Respondent's Annex 10, kissporntube, boxporntube, 69porntube, bookporntube. Different colors of the words do not excuse the use of the trademark, nor does placing a space between PORN and TUBE as in large, gold, pipe, cube and bonus porn tube.

Regarding Respondent's bona fide services, Complainant addresses its complaint and comments therein to these thirteen (13) domain names and the case law that supports the fact that no bona fide services can be offered when the use of the domain name is confusingly similar to a registered trademark, and is being used to support competitors of the trademark owner. Respondent has admitted several times that it directs traffic to competitors. See e.g., Response, p. 6, para. 1, ("Respondent operates the websites available at the Disputed Domains, which drive traffic to Complainant and other websites.") p. 11, para. 3 ("Disputed Domain were registered for the purpose of promoting the businesses of third parties....") Complainant is not addressing all of Respondent's domain names, it is directing this complaint to those that infringe Complainant's registered trademark.

Respondent states that Complainant has "knowingly and purposefully created, fostered and funded the affiliate program" which helps Respondent operate its websites, and cites Hewlett Packard v Napier as supporting its contention that there was no bad faith and a finding of a bona fide business. In that case, it was found that complainant was "aware of the existence of respondent's website, cooperated with respondent in its development and use, acquiesced to respondent's registration and use" of the domain names. None of this is true in this case.

Despite Respondent's arguments, Respondent is not known by these domain names. It is either known as Calista Enterprises Ltd, or perhaps by AlexZ-Traffic. These names by any stretch of the imagination do not reflect one of the domain names. Accordingly, Complainant, as of 2011, began to conduct business with Respondent. Complainant was not aware of the list of domain names that Respondent owned, nor was it aware of any that Respondent intended to use. Declaration of Paphitis, at 2. Contrary to Respondent's allegations, Complainant did not condone the registration and use of thirteen (13) domain names that included the entirety of Complainant's registered mark. Decl. Paphitis, at 3. The invitation to join the webmaster program was through the operator of 4tube, a completely separate company.

² Respondent claims that it has only added fanciful terms. Contrary to Respondent's own explanation that royalporntube may be for one wanting a more regal website, or directporntube for one wanting content delivered directly to them, it appears Respondent is arguing that they are merely descriptive additions.

In this regard, Complainant contracts its website operation to a third party company, DreamStar Cash SL. Respondent's communications regarding its account, including traffic monitoring, operational problems, and negotiations of amounts to be paid was with this third party company, not Complainant. Decl. of Paphitis, at 4. The third party company, and any of its representatives, is not authorized to issue a license to use Complainant's trademark, or register any domain name containing Complainant's trademark. Decl. of Paphitis, at 4. In this regard, paragraph 5 of Complainant's Webmaster terms of use explicitly set forth that "Content on the Website is provided to you AS IS ... and may not be used, copied, reproduced, distributed, transmitted, broadcast, displayed, sold, licensed, or otherwise exploited for any other purposes whatsoever without the prior written consent of the respective owners." See SAnnex 4. Content is defined as including trademarks, service marks and logos. Id. By participating in the webmaster program, webmasters, including Respondent, agree not to engage in the use, copying, or distribution of any of the Content other than expressly permitted. Id. By registering and using these domain names, Respondent used, copy and distributed Complainant's Content, namely, its trademark, and thus, knowingly violated this term of use of the webmaster program.

Even assuming arguendo that there is an implicit agreement by virtue of the mere mention of goldporntube.com on March 9, 2011, agreement to use a single domain name does not translate into an agreement that Respondent was authorized to use and/or register 13 domain names, prominently place an infringing mark on each of these websites, and direct traffic to competitors! Respondent's activities are not nominal use of a registered trademark, but rather, demonstrate a systematic and expanding infringement of Complainant's registered mark. Respondent is trading off the goodwill of Complainant's highly successful trademark, nothing more. This is classic trademark infringement. It was not contemplated in any arrangement with Respondent, nor was there a waiver of the webmaster terms of use, or any discussion of waiving them.

Complainant receives traffic from approximately 80,000 domain names. Decl. Paphitis, para. 2. Due to the sheer number of domain names, it is not aware of every specific domain name forwarding it traffic. It does not issue compensation checks in the names of these domain names, but rather, issues compensation to an identified company. In this instance, Respondent identified itself as Calista Enterprises, which received compensation from May 16, 2011 until May 16, 2012. Respondent updated its payment information after 2012, and identified Wiblax, Ltd. to receive payments after May 16, 2012, until the closing of the account on April 28, 2013. Decl. of Paphitis, para. 2. Nothing Respondent has presented evinces Complainant explicitly rewarded Respondent with knowledge of these domain names. As stated above, Complainant did not know of the use of these domain names. Compensation to Respondent was without knowledge of the use of these domain names by Respondent, and was made solely in accordance with its compensation terms. In any instance, it was not due to Complainant's acquiescence to Respondent's use of these domain names as part of the compensation agreement. The only reason there was no objection was because Complainant was unaware of the use of these domain names, nor was Complainant aware of the extent of the infringement perpetrated by Respondent in registering and using these domain names and related infringing trademarks on these sites.

Regarding the ICQ chats, Complainant did not own the trademark prior to February 2011. Thus, any discussions between the operator and Respondent prior to that date are irrelevant as Complainant was not involved with Respondent at that time, nor would have had no basis upon which to object to Respondent's use of any of these domain names. Respondent attempts to obfuscate the fact that the registration of the first infringing domain name in 2009, was long after the first use of PORNTUBE in 2005 by Complainant's predecessor in interest, and long after the filing date of the U.S. application in 2008. As previously presented, Complainant's predecessor in interest utilized the mark in a similar fashion and was well-known. Indeed, Annex 9 of the Complainant's complaint shows that porntube.com had a traffic ranking less than 10,000 as early as mid-2008, if not earlier.³ The only ICQ chat that may be of relevance is March 2011, wherein the operator addressed the issue of technical problems with goldporntube.com. This operator, however, was not authorized to license or condone use of the trademark. The use of the goldporntube.com domain name came to the attention of the Complainant when Complainant began identifying the next set of domain names in its enforcement efforts. Prior to this time, Complainant was unaware of the extent of the domain names utilized by Respondent that incorporated its registered trademark. Soon after this proceeding was filed, Complainant has already commenced preparation for the next enforcement action.

Further, the award identified by Respondent in Annex 21 clearly shows that AlexZ was identified, not the various domain names. Again, this does not demonstrate knowledge of Respondent's activities by Complainant. Further, Respondent's Annex 19 is a screen shot that would be accessed by Respondent, not Complainant. This is an internal statistics page made available to the individual webmasters, thus, it would not be 'proudly displayed' by Complainant. It was offered as a tool for webmasters to access their own account and review their own statistics. As with Annex 21, it fails to prove Complainant's acquiescence or knowledge of Respondent's activities.

Respondent alleges that Complainant is engaging in reverse hijacking and that this complaint was brought in bad faith. Complainant has three (3) registered trademarks for PORNTUBE, Respondent has demonstrated in its response the extent of use of Complainant's registered mark, Respondent has admitted that it is a competitor of Complainant (see Annex 1, Petition for Cancellation, p. 3, para. I.13.) and Respondent has admitted to using Complainant's trademark to benefit Complainant's competitors. It appears that Complainant had a sound basis in law and fact to bring this complaint, and did so to enforce its intellectual property. Accordingly, Complainant respectfully request this panel find in Complainant's favor on this issue, and find no reverse hijacking.

REQUEST TO TERMINATE OR SUSPEND

Respondent has requested the panel to terminate or, in the alternative, suspend these proceedings pending the disposition of the Petition for Cancellation ("Petition) filed with the United States Trademark Trial and Appeal Board ("TTAB"). The Complainant respectfully argues that either termination or suspension is inappropriate.

The Complainant contends that the disposition of the TTAB proceeding will be not be determinative for the issues in this proceeding. The issues determined in the TTAB proceeding are only dispositive of the validity of a registration, and differ than those determined in this proceeding. Indeed, this proceeding requires the proof or rebuttal of only three issues: (1) whether the domain names are identical or confusing similar to the trademark; (2) whether Registrant has any rights or legitimate interest in the domain names; and (3) whether the Respondent registered and used the domain names in bad faith. The legitimacy of a registration is not within the purview of this proceeding, and the three prongs above stand on their own. There is nothing in the TTAB proceeding that is required for Respondent to be relieved of rebutting the above issues.

Complainant contends that it will be materially prejudiced by the termination or suspension of this proceeding. This proceeding is an expedient manner to adjudicate three (3) issues. A TTAB proceeding can extend at least one year, and in most instances, several years. During this time, Respondent will have use of these domain names and further damage Complainant's trademark. Respondent is monetarily profiting from these domain names and the use of Complainant's registered trademark, and currently directs traffic from these domain names to competitor's websites. This behavior is in addition to the previously cited instances of directing users to competitors' websites directly from the websites associated with these domain names, and misdirecting users via a PORN TUBE link, not to Complainant, but to a competitor. This activity was ongoing prior to the filing of this proceeding. See Complaint, Annexes 3 and 4 and related discussion. There is a strong financial motive for Respondent to have these proceedings suspended or terminated. Further, if these proceedings are terminated, it is Complainant's understanding that its filing fees of several thousand dollars will be lost with no adjudication of its complaint. If this is not deemed prejudicial or damaging to Complainant, then Complainant suggests that these domain names be suspended from use until such time as the TTAB proceeding is concluded.

Complainant contends that Rule 18(a) is directed to a legal proceeding wherein the subject of the legal proceeding is the domain name. In the present case, no filing has been made wherein the subject of the legal proceeding is the domain name, such as a cyberquatting claim, thus, Rule 18(a) is not directly applicable. In any instance, the panel has discretion to proceed to a decision in this proceeding, and Complainant respectfully requests that it do so. The TTAB proceeding was merely brought to divert attention from the obvious egregiousness of Respondent's activities and to delay the cessation of the use of the domain names, and thus, allow Respondent to continue its unauthorized use and receipt of monetary gains from the use of these domain names for as long as possible. However, this is the purpose of this type of proceeding; namely, to provide Complainant with an expedient manner of ending the unauthorized use of its registered trademark. Accordingly, Complainant respectfully requests this panel proceed to a decision in this case.

In light of the foregoing and prior submissions, the Complainant respectfully requests that these domain names be ordered transferred to the Complainant.
